

Name: Eve Sprunt

Contact: speakersbureau@trivalleywriters.org

Website: evesprunt.com

Background/Field(s) of expertise:

Corporate Executive & Scientist (Rock Mechanics)
Past President of the American Geosciences Institute
Past President of the Society of Petroleum Engineers
Recipient of the Society of Women Engineers
Achievement Award

Topic(s) for speaking engagements:

Career management for dual-career couples
Women in male dominated careers
Overcoming career crises
Career development challenges

Bio (25-30 words):

After being the first woman to earn a Ph.D. in geophysics from Stanford, Eve became a research scientist and leader, lecturing worldwide on technical, managerial and career development issues.

Highlighted published book title and genre:

Dearest Audrey, An Unlikely Love Story - Memoir & Biography

Highlighted Book Synopsis (25-30 words):

While on sabbatical in Pakistan in the 1950s, Eve's Aunt Audrey encountered Brix, a divorced American photographer, who surprised her by proposing marriage, forcing her to choose between love and her career.

